Burrito Masala Brand Book

Burrito Masala serving up exotic cuisine made your way; a food cart located in the heart of downtown Portland.

Our story sets us apart…

Burrito Masala is run by husband and wife Prasad Varma and Ramona Varma-Hernandez, winners of the James Beard Award. Prasad, originally from southern India, and Romana, from Mexico, combine their culture and cuisine into the flavors that can't be found anywhere but Burrito Masala.

Our customers:

We provide our customers with delicious exotic cuisine and we do it in a way that is simple and highly customizable.

Our customers are people who:

- Love to be adventurous and try new things
- Enjoy the freedom to make choices
- Enjoy going out, being outside, and being social.
- Want a quality meal without having to wait for a table
- Are the people of downtown Portland, both locals and visitors included

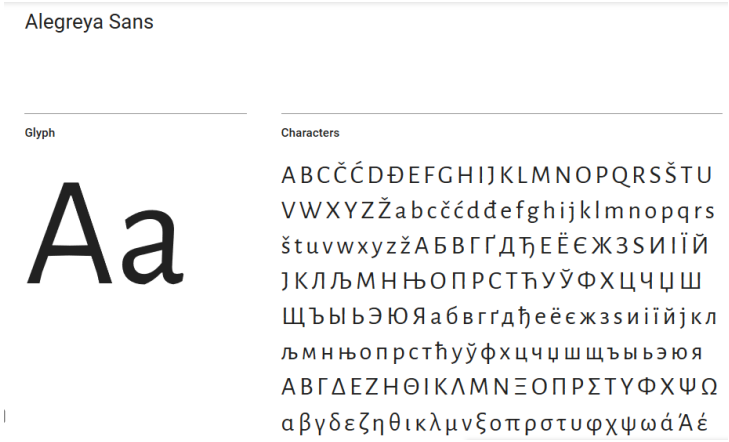
When customers see our brand, they think…

Delicious | Authentic | Unique | Quality | Adventure

Our Brand Fonts

Coiny (Google Font) – will be used for large header text because it is visually interesting, bold, and yet is still clearly legible when it is used for a header.

Alegreya Sans (Google Font) – will be used for non-headline text, such as paragraphs. This ensures that large blocks of text are easy to read.



Our Brand Colors

These colors evoke the mood that the Burrito Masala sight should emulate. This color palette not only matches the colors of India and Mexico well, but also includes red and yellow which are good to use for food advertisements. This palette provides a good range of exotic colors that will catch the user's attention, and will create the mood that is reflective of the cuisine served at Burrito Masala.

Our Visual Style

The visual style for Burrito Masala includes large text, a flat design, structure that stretches across the page, clean lines, a modern look, and large pictures.
